

How can I learn Cued Speech?

We recommend a combination of face-to-face instruction and media technology. You can start with either one, or it is certainly possible to learn just by audio, video or web lessons. You definitely can complete a basic course in Cued Speech at home!

Here are the options most readily available:

FACE-TO-FACE:

- Cue Camps: Learn Cued Speech in the relaxed atmosphere of camp. Exciting new class formats for cuers of all ages. They will focus on expressive fluency for the younger campers. There will be several concurrent workshops each day to meet individual needs. Check www.cuedspeech.com for the list of upcoming classes, camps and events!
- INSTRUCTORS CERTIFIED by the National Cued Speech Association: Go to <http://www.cuedspeech.org/> and click on “Instructors”.

MEDIA TECHNOLOGY: Available through Cued Speech Discovery bookstore, on-line at <http://www.cuedspeech.com/>

- I Cue, U Cue!, produced in 2006 by the Institute for Disabilities Research and Training with the content developed by two certified instructors of Cued Speech, this CD-ROM teaches the entire system of Cued Speech with step-by-step instruction, lots of video demonstrations, activities, and more. The software also gives you the history of Cued Speech, experiences of members of the cueing community, and research on the link between Cued Speech, reading and communication.
- DISCOVERING CUED SPEECH INSTRUCTIONAL VIDEO (or DVD) & WORKBOOK SET, produced in 2000 by South Carolina Educational TV, gives an overview of the origin, definition and the system of Cued Speech, plus a demonstration of a speech pathologist using it with a normally hearing child with a phonological disorder in the 9 minute introduction. In the following 23 minute Lesson One, there is a more thorough introduction to the system's relationship to lipreading consonants and vowels, consonant-vowel cueing structure for syllables and words, and demonstrations of a father cueing with his toddler son and a mother cueing with her infant. For VHS set: BECV For DVD set: BECV-D
- BEGINNING LESSONS IN CUED SPEECH: GENERAL AMERICAN ENGLISH Audiocassette tape and printed instruction booklet written and narrated by the creator of Cued Speech himself. Effective for learning and practice! Cornett 1995. NCSA10

In the on-line catalog, you will see a variety of software and other practice materials. You can order on-line, or we can accept purchase orders from agencies by mail or fax, checks or money orders by mail, or MasterCard or Visa by phone, fax, or mail. We ship same or next business day once we receive the order.

For direct orders: Cued Speech Discovery
23970 Hermitage Road
Cleveland OH 44122-4008
877-283-2030 v/tty
info@cuedspeech.com